

Connected as a Community of Ministers

Read the following statements from Connect³. Circle the statement which provides the greatest challenge for you and your class. Place a star (*) beside the statement you feel your class is learning to demonstrate or put this into action.

Our class enrollment is seen as our ministry list: we are committed to minister to our members.

Our class is a community of friends; we have to be intentional at staying open to new people.

Our class is intentional about helping members and prospects experience a Great Commandment community.

Our class is intentional about answering the question, "Has our class honored our commitment to this member?"

Our class is a place to go where "everybody knows your name."

Our class does the kinds of things you'd expect a community of faith to do; as it develops, it moves beyond just doing caring activities, and really starts caring.

Our class likes to have fun together.

Our class learns to bond in fellowship by doing ministry project(s) together.

Our class requires more leaders since we seek to help members connect through ministry and fellowship.

Our class is learning to pray for the challenges and victories of lives in our community.